Good tidings from Bela and Anna unto those many gentles who, by their good deeds and honor most exemplary, bring great joy to their King and Queen!

We offer Our sincerest gratitude to the hosts and chefs across Our Lands whose hospitality reminds Us that although We may have traveled many miles, We are still at home among Outlanders. With the feasting season at its peak, Our schedule, much like Our bellies, is close to bursting! As We travel across this mighty Kingdom, We invite one and all to join Us for good food, gentle company, and preparations for WAR!!

The dawn of another Estrella War approaches, and the thirst among Our armies for the blood of Our enemies grows almost as rapidly as the skill and valor of Our fighters. So too do We call upon the unending talent of Out artisans, for your works are needed for competitions, prizes, and gifts at War. Let us not forget the service rendered by Our volunteers, without whom, events such as these would be impossible. Finally, We encourage those who are able to join Us at the Roses Tournament to benefit cancer; because for too many, cancer is the fiercest battle one will have to face.

Consumed by the friendship, generosity, and inspiration of the people of the Outlands, We remain,

Bela

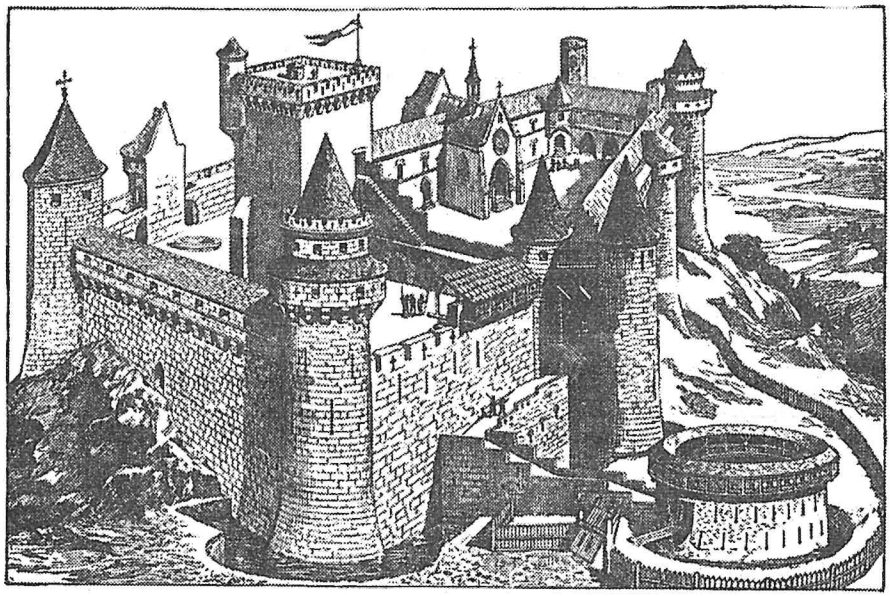
Kingdom Seneschal

Greetings,
I would once again like to thank everyone throughout our Kingdom for their generous support of the Toys for Tots Program during the holiday season. I have no doubt that Our Kingdom will retain the Known World Toys for Tots Sword yet again.

Please complete your Domesday reports for last year and get them to your Kingdom counterpart by your normal reporting date this month. I am required to report to Society later this month, so I need your information as soon as possible. Thank you in advance for your help with this project.

Once again War is upon us and I look forward to a great time at Estrella next month. Please help the Kingdom War effort wherever you are able. Remember many hands make light work. In conclusion I will be in attendance at the following events (weather permitting); Greenwood 12th Night in Caerthe on January 2nd, Citadel 12th Night, January 16th, and Winter Wolf hosted January 23rd by the College of Blaiddwyn. If you would like to discuss any issues with me in person find me at one of these fine events and I will be happy to talk with you.

YIS,
Master James David



White Stag

First, I would like to remind everyone that Domesday reports are due on the 15th of January. The monthly/quarterly reports typically due in January are forgiven so that everyone can finish up their Domesdays. These reports should cover the entirety of 2009; if you stepped up part-way through 2009, please try to work with your predecessor to get the rest of the information needed. Details on what should be in the Domesdays is covered in the new Outlands Handbook for Heraldry (basically, like a regular report, but for the whole year).

There are several events coming up that need heralds. As everyone knows, Estrella needs heralds of all kinds. Please contact Plover Herald to help out the WAR effort. Just weeks after WAR will be Heralds and Scribes! It will be held in southern Caerthe on February 27th, 2009. Details are elsewhere in this newsletter and on the outlandsheralds.org website. I invite one and all to come on up and learn something new, either heraldic or scribal, and also myself and the Kingdom Scribe are seeking teachers (hopefully there are still spaces open when this goes to print). Please contact us if you are willing to teach. We would like to see a wide variety of classes, beginning, intermediate, and advanced. We're also seeking a group to host H&S 2011.

It being the season of feasts and courts, I have a couple reminders for heralds. Please send court reports to: Wimble, the ruling nobles, and White Stag. This gives the ruling nobles a chance to verify the reports, and provides backup copies. Also, any herald may submit a court report for any event where they attend Court - more information is a good thing. I would remind folks that water is the best drink for doing court heraldry - it lubricates without being sticky or drying out your throat.

Lastly, since my next-to-last letter, the July, August, September, and October LoARs have been issued. The July Cover Letter announces that Laurel is beginning an extensive review of the Rules for Submission, including examining the fundamental principals which underlie them - see the Palimpsest Rules Letters on OSCAR to comment. The September Cover Letter announces some significant changes to the Alternate Titles list for Russian, including adding Boiarin/Boiarynia for all bestowed ranks in the Society. The October Cover Letter announces a change to the Alternate Title list for Turkish. Not all Cover Letter items are mentioned here, due to space. You can view Cover Letters and LoARs at: http://heraldry.sca.org/loar and track Outlandish submissions at: http://submissions.outlandsheralds.org/

Earl Marshal

Greetings!

A decision at Stag's Con was made as to the monthly reporting of marshals. If you are helping as a marshal on the field or line marshal, you do not need to report monthly. If you are a knight marshal, an authorizing marshal, marshal in charge at an event, see an injury, or witness an unfavorable incident, then you are to report monthly. If the injury requires an ER or doctor, i must know about it immediately. All marshals are still asked to attend one All Marshals' Meeting each year. This will help keep the list of active marshals current and will give us an opportunity to discuss rule changes and safety concerns.

War is fast approaching. It is time to check your armor now. Look at the padding, check the buckles and straps, check and re-tape your weapons, and make your travel plans. Our kingdom is taking the field and we need you.

Sir Dennis the Wright

Archer General

War is just around the corner, if you are going, be sure to get your equipment in good working order. Check the string, make sure that your feathers and tips are secure to the shafts, everything should be checked.

We need people to help on the line, and we need people to help set-up and teardown the range each day. If you are willing, please let the AG know.

This year the Royal Archer tournament will be far different from past years. Several things, first of the entire Tournament will be held at the new Battlemoor War in July. There will be only the one location, no more running the same shoot at two different events. Also this year the tournament will be open to any and all authorized archers. If you are an authorized archer, you may shoot in the 2010 Royal Archery Tournament. It does not matter if you are a novice or a bowman, you will be able to shoot in the tournament. We will still have a Royal Round time set up so bowman will be able to shoot and make yeoman as well.

Forrester
Archer General

Minister of Children

Greetings to the great populace of the Outlands,

In December, I revised the document I created this fall, titled "Society and Outlands Policies Regarding Minors in the SCA" and sent this revision to both the Seneschals and Ministers of Children Officers via their discussion lists. This revised copy included some new formatting, larger print, additional information and it replaces the first 9 pages of the new Local Groups' Youth Handbook that was given out at Stags Con to Seneschals and MOC Officers. This document includes all of the exact wording that pertains to minors in over 20 Society and Kingdom Handbooks, Society Seneschal Memorandums of new policies, Corpora, Kingdom Laws, Rules of Combat, Regulations, the four minors Outlands Award Charters, Outlands Administrative Policies, Society's Ministry of Children Guidelines and several Society Marshal Arts websites. I created this document, because I wanted to have in one place, all of the information you would need to know regarding minors, without having to look through hundreds of pages in over 20 documents. This document will be available to the populace in early 2010 via the new Outlands Youth Website at http://www.youth.outlands.org. If your local group still doesn't have their copy of the Local Groups' Youth Handbook, please contact me at krege@aps.edu.

The Society and Kingdom policies and laws in my revised document were the basis for my proposed changes and additions to the current updating of the Outlands Administrative Policies regarding minors, including policies, youth activities and forms. My proposal was finalized in December and sent to Kingdom.

Starting in 2010, some of the Bengals, other heavy weapons fighters and some rapier fighters will be at some of our local groups' fighter practices (at least one Sunday each month for 2010) working with minors. They will be helping our youth, who want to learn to be better fighters with their youth foam swords (formerly known as boffers) or want to know more about rapier techniques, equipment and fighting, along with concepts such as chivalry and honor. Please contact me if you are a heavy or rapier fighter and want to work with our youth. Details of when and where will be posted soon to the Outlands List and printed in future Outlandish Heralds. Please contact Lady Morwyn at oulandspageacademy@yahoo.com if you want to create a Class-in-a-Bag or our Page Academy or teach a Page Academy class at your local event or fighter practice. If you have questions regarding youth activities or programs, wish to teach a youth class or do a youth activity at Battlemoor, our first inter-kingdom war July 1-4, or wish to be involved in supporting our youth in any way, please contact me at krege@aps.edu.

Estrella War Effort

The winter snows have started, and with them come rumors that the thoughts of those beyond our western borders have turned to War. Your King calls you to prepare! We shall surely make those who dare to challenge us quake with our martial skill, our glorious arts, and the generosity of our service!

To that end...

We, as a kingdom, have volunteered to cover Security at Estrella War on Tuesday and Wednesday. This is to be our primary volunteer focus; and, obviously, a large task.

Greetings!
My name is Elaine Koogler, known in the Society as Minowara Kiritsubo. I have, as of the first of this year, taken over as Editor of the Compleat Anachronist. The CA is a pamphlet series, actually more of a booklet, that covers topics of interest to those who do historical research and recreation both in and out of the SCA. Each issue covers one subject, allowing for a more in-depth exploration. Subject matter in the past has ranged from a fictionalized account of life in an abbey to tavern songs to weaponry and armor.

The Compleat Anachronist is your publication. We depend upon you to provide us with manuscripts to publish, and, to that end, I am asking for your assistance. If you have a project or interest that you would like to see a CA about or, even better, would like to write about, please contact me. If you can provide me with an outline or a complete description of what you'd like to write about, that would be even better.

Thanks so much for your assistance!

Keynote Address: Kingdom of the Outlands

My name is Lady Luce Antony Venus, Deputy Society Chatelaine, and I come to you from the Kingdom of Atlantia! I am pleased to be here at the invitation of your Seneschal, Master James David, and speaking at the indulgence of Her Majesty Sabine. Thank you, Your Majesty, Your Highnesses , Master James David.

I work with Her Excellency Countess Alys, the Society Chatelaine, on matters concerning training, and was asked to come here by your Kingdom Seneschal to speak to you today. First, let me tell you what I'm not going to do. I'm not here to tell you how to run your Kingdom. Most of the stuff you're used to hearing from Society officers, I'll admit, usually has to do with rules, regulations, and insurance requirements. I am lucky. My job here has nothing to do with telling you what you can't do.

Quite to the contrary, I am here to talk about what you can do. I am here to support you, to help you reach the goals you have for your Kingdom. You're going to hear me do a lot of talking, but you should know that before I got here, I did a lot of listening. I spoke to some of your Kingdom Officers. I spoke to friends of mine living here. I asked them not just about the problems, but about the things that make the Outlands special. And one of the most important goals for your Kingdom I heard, across the board, was to increase membership. So I'm here to help you do that.

I am also here to share a vision with you. We call what we do The Dream. We as a Society are among the most brazenly idealistic people out there. We all started playing this game because we had a "wow" moment – we looked at all of these people having fun and bringing history to life and thought to ourselves, "WOW! I have to be a part of this!" And most of us, quite frankly, have lost touch with that moment. And the vision of the SCA I want to offer you today, this hope I have for the future of the SCA not only promises to bring more players to the game, but more "wow" moments to everyone, even if you've been playing so long you no longer thought you had a "wow" moment left.

And lastly, I am here to challenge you.

So let's get started.....

I'm an Atlantian. That's where I started in the SCA, and though I have traveled around quite a bit, and met people from nearly every Kingdom, I remain an Atlantian, and that means something. And being from the Outlands means something too, I have learned.

Let me tell you what I have learned about the Outlands.

Here in the Outlands, I've learned that people know how to have fun. In my household, we have a saying – "all theater, no drama." Y'all have that "theater" thing down. Y'all have the knack for taking an ordinary SCA situation and adding the spice, the schtick, the twist that turns it into something fun and special. You want to create a moment of theater? A moment where the people involved transcend themselves and the situation? Get the Outlander involved. The most skilled instigators in the Knowne World are from the Outlands. And if you don't believe me, ask me later to tell you about "Raoul."

Believe me when I tell you that this is no small asset. A lot of Kingdoms don't have it. We call this a "game," but that doesn't prevent some people from taking things way too seriously. And that sort of thing isn't evil. It's just what happens when you're dealing with people with passionate interests – they want so badly for everything to be perfect that they can lose their sense of humor. The ability to focus on the fun in a situation is a big part of what makes a group the kind of place where one feels like they want to stay.

I've also learned that there is a growing concern here in the Outlands. Groups are shrinking. Some groups are folding entirely. People are frustrated. But people are also looking for ways to grow their groups.

I want you to understand that as unique as the Outlands is as a Kingdom, in this last bit you are not alone. Nearly every Kingdom in the SCA has experienced some drop in membership. Nearly every kingdom is struggling with these very issues. Nearly every Kingdom is grappling with the challenge of growing. Everyone's asking:

How do we grow?

But that question comes too quickly. To get to the heart of the matter, we need to get even more fundamental than that.

Why do we want to grow?
The first reason is easy. Growth is good – more people means more opportunity.
Bigger may not always be better, but in this case, it is. First off, many hands make light work. We often call what we do "The Dream" but to make dreams real requires hard work. The more people there are to do the work, the bigger and better our Dream gets.
That's true not only on the practical level of being able to do more or bigger events. It's true on the qualitative level because it provides you the ability to regenerate your leadership. If you have the same ten or twelve people holding offices in your group, it becomes tiresome, not only for the officers (who may be bored or burnt out) but for the rest of the folk, who may be discouraged at the lack of opportunity. It's hard for experienced players to take up new challenges if they can't shed the responsibilities they currently have.
The other reason to grow is that newcomers uplift our game. New people challenge us by asking the impertinent question that comes from having no prejudices or preconceived notions about what is possible.
But the most important way newcomers uplift our game is the fact that they let us see the SCA through their eyes. One of the best parts about newcomers is their energy and their enthusiasm. Seeing a newcomer have that "wow" moment reminds us how special this game really is and gives us access to that part of ourselves that still believes in The Dream, no matter what's happened.
So that's the "why." Now that you know why, we can start to think about "how."
Actually, that's what we'll be talking about in breakout sessions all day today. The sessions that we'll have today are going to discuss specific things that you can do to grow your Kingdom.
What I want to do now is set the tone for those discussions by leaving you with two thoughts.
First, everything we talk about today is going to hang off of a single principle. I've worked in membership, recruitment and retention for many, many organizations, both professional and non-profit, and the essence of it is the same no matter what type of group you are dealing with. If you want a group to grow, people must not only join the group, but they must stay in the group. If you remember nothing else about the fundamentals of growing a group, remember this: People stay in organizations where they feel welcomed and accepted, and leave groups where they feel like they have no place.
Let me say that again: People stay in organizations where they feel welcomed and accepted, and leave groups where they feel like they have no place. Everything I talk about today will be based in this simple idea.
Second, I am going to make you a promise. If y'all take that single principle to heart and begin acting on it to grow your group, you're not just going to have better success with newcomers. You'll find that many of the frustrations you have with your local group and your Kingdom on a personal level will ease. And the reason is because most of the stuff that a group does to make the SCA more fun for newcomers, the stuff we do to assure that newcomers feel like they belong, that stuff enhances the SCA experience for everyone.
Create an environment around your group that welcomes newcomers, that seeks to help them find their "wow" moment, and you'll find that many of your "old timers" will get a surge of fresh interest too. Indeed, groups that successfully create that environment even see people who'd given up on the SCA return to play.
Because the truth is, we all want to play in a game where we feel like we belong, where everyone has a place at the table and something to contribute. That's when those "wow" moments happen for everyone.
And here's the part where I issue a challenge....because this kind of change in experience that I am talking about takes EVERYONE'S participation. You may think that growing your Kingdom is the job of your Hospitallers, but it's not. To grow a Kingdom requires the effort of a Kingdom, not a single office. And after today, after I leave, whether you grow your Kingdom will be up to you. Each and every one of you. I will teach you everything I know, but ultimately, each of you will choose what kind of Kingdom you wish to create. And my point in speaking to you this morning is to tell you that it is worth doing, and given the strengths I see in the Outlands as a Kingdom, it can be done. All that remains is for you to accept my challenge, and choose to make it so.
Thank you.

Lady Luce Antony Venus
